

What is your daily rate?

Written by Mark Campbell

Monday, 04 April 2011 15:52 - Last Updated Friday, 28 June 2013 11:12

Our rates vary according to group-size, length of workshop, number of days booked and such factors. They generally work out at around £1,000 per day, plus travel and accommodation costs as needed. (We are based near Witney in Oxfordshire, UK and our mileage charge is 46p.) If you have special needs and can't afford these charges, we are ready to compromise. This particularly applies to smaller businesses or when the training is one-to-one, with a very small group or for half a day only. We are always ready to be flexible - to meet your needs and budget.

We would decide with you whether any charges for preparation are required. We keep such charges to a minimum and they are entirely unnecessary for standard workshops. However we are sometimes asked to prepare a lot of new material, such as specific case studies, and we need to allow for this possibility. The daily charge is £300-400.